Summary

I have mainly worked as web/cms developer plus front-end engineer till now. I started software development with Word press in 2012 when I was student. I am always happy to be to be assigned challenging tasks. My core has been App Design and Php development with MYSQL and MVC plus client side scripting in JS and JQuery. My preferred approach for web development is now with Laravel for well structured, really object oriented all around even in UI views and along with that loosely coupled apps development.

Can present/elabobarate and show (running live) my projects/development history .
